

Leverage Landing Net Targets the Rapidly Growing Kayak Market

Leverage Landing Net, LLC is pleased to announce yet another model to its line of revolutionary new landing nets, The Leverage Landing Net™ Kayak 1900 and the 2250.

What makes The Leverage Landing Net™ unique is its innovative handle design, utilizing a simple arm brace and “pistol” grip that enables the fisherman to deploy and operate the net one-handed while maintaining control of the fishing rod in the other hand. The brace and grip combination enables your arm to act as an extension to the net's handle, and increases strength and control when your netting fish. The new Kayak model is the same net with a handle extension beyond the arm cradle which enables this net to be used in a traditional rod holder.

The Leverage Landing was designed and engineered to be fully collapsible for easy storage. Kayak fisherman are a growing group of individualizes who generally fish by themselves, have limited space yet need a functional landing net. The one arm strength and control of the The Leverage Landing Net™ when netting fish makes this net a must and a perfect fit for not only the Kayak fisherman but any fisherman that deals with limited space. The netting itself remains a rubber-dipped knotless nylon, which is gentler on the protective coating of fish and also results in fewer hook snags. This makes the net perfect for catch and release.

The BC1900 was the first net produced and worked well for bass and crappie, but some felt it was a bit small for the needs of the walleye angler, so a larger version soon followed. The WB2250 was developed, and not only met the requirements of the walleye angler, but was demonstrated to be capable of landing anything from pike and steelhead in the Northern regions to redfish and snook in the South.

With the growing interest and growing kayak fishing market the Leverage Landing Net™ is an ideal accessory to any kayak fisherman. Since its conception there has been an overall increased interest from other fisherman who have smaller boats with minimal space and a rod holder. The LLN Kayak is available in both 1900 and 2250 hoop sizes.

This American-made net is a must have for any fishermen of any species and is available in several tackle shops and retail outlets across the country. Check them out at www.leveragelandingnet.com Or call Toll Free at 888.666.0961
